Interlinking Benches for Planters

Reference:BP210315

Price: from £35 (exc. VAT)

Lots of schools use planters as boundary markers in playgrounds; for example separating active play zones from quieter play areas.

Interlinking benches between planters can be a really effective way to define and reinforce different play zones and of course also provide a handy spot to sit and natter with friends.

Interlinking benches come in 3 different lengths and can be affixed to our planters at the production stage, just choose your planter size and required bench length and let us do the rest.
