

Rectangular Planter

Reference:BP500175

Price: from £350 (exc. VAT)

A shocking number of children don't know where different fruits and vegetables come from, let alone what is native to Britain and what is imported. Gardening helps children connect to and understand their natural environment.

Great fun and long lasting life lessons go hand in hand when children get outdoors and start to observe and question their environment; what happens to the plants in their planters if it doesn't rain or if it rains too much. Why do different plants thrive better in the shade than the hot sun; a playground planter can help answer these questions and really make the curriculum come alive.

Our rectangular planters are available in a three different sizes, each available in two different heights allowing you to choose what best suits your children and your playground and have a variety of sizes within the same location so that children of different ages can work together.
